

Transporter Licence and Number Plates

Your operation is that of a transporter who is regularly engaged in the business of picking up and delivering unlicensed vehicles.

This allows you to purchase a Transporter licence in conjunction with your Garage Vehicle Certificate (Garage Policy). This licence has a restricted use and the insurance provided by your Garage Policy for use of a vehicle with a Transporter number plate attached is similarly restricted.

A Transporter number plate:

- 1. may be attached only to an unlicensed vehicle being operated or towed on a highway while being delivered;
- 2. must be attached to each transported vehicle that is in contact with the highway;
- 3. may be used only by the person to whom the transporter licence is issued or an authorized person in the regular employ of the transporter;
- 4. does not apply to
public freight vehicles;
- 5. may not be used on a vehicle
 - owned by or leased to the Transporter,
 - owned by or leased to an employee when that employee is an occupant/driver of the vehicle,
 - being operated for pleasure use,
 - being operated for other than the delivery of that vehicle, or
 - not eligible to be registered and licensed for operation on a highway, including a vehicle whose status is salvage.

This outlines the purpose and restrictions applicable to the authorized use of a Transporter number plate. Where the Transporter number plate is used for its restricted purpose, insurance will be provided. Conversely, when the vehicle to which a Transporter number plate is attached is used contrary to the authorized use of a Transporter number plate, it may invalidate the insurance provided by your Garage Policy.

If you have any questions, please contact your Autoplan Broker.